LOCAL WHOLESALE TRADE

COOLER WEATHER NEEDED TO GIVE REAL SNAP TO BUSINESS.

Commission Row Feels the Situation Most-Grocers Report Better Coffee Market-Grain Arrivals.

Trade is unusually dull for October, which attributed to the summer-like characof the weather. This is the most acticeable on Commission row. There never was a better variety of lines of goods hanthe commission houses than those offered, apples, pears, bananas, lem-Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, cabbage, celery and like articles all being in arge supplies, and a glance at quotations will show that prices, as compared with those of a year ago, are much lower, apples specially being low for the season. The produce market, so far as eggs are conserned, is firm and receipts continue light. Already there is considerable demand on storage eggs to supply the market. Poultry is easier, but no reductions have been made of late, as all arrivals are quite readily taken. Choice butter is in good request at prices quoted, and the supply is hardly equal to the demand. Wholesale grocers teport trade as rather quiet. The fruit being about over, the demand for sugar for canning purposes has fallen off perceptibly, but coffees sell freely at the recent advance. The canned goods market is unsettled. The amount of stocks held is sifficult to ascertain, but the belief prevails that they are ample to meet the necessities of the market, and there will be little change in prices, while some sellers predict higher prices. The leather market is unusually active for October, and prices are very firm, but no higher. The hide market drifts along in the rut of months past. Though hides are bringing about a half cent more than sixty days ago, they are still at low figures. The provision market continues very active. The export demand is good, and the domestic demand largely in excess of that usual at this season of the year. So long as fresh meats are held at present figures, hog products are likely to meet with ready sales at the low prices prevailing. Other markets are without

PITTSBURG FAILURE.

Fair Gains Established in Many Leading Stocks, with Some Recession Toward the Close.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 .- The news before the opening of the stock market to-day of the suspension of the Federal National Bank, of Pittsburg, caused fears of a violent break in the market. There were some heavy offerings just at the opening in some of the leading stocks and declines ran to a point in a few cases. Pressure was severe on United States Steel preferred, causing a loss of 14. Fears for the result in the market were the more acute owing to the part played in yesterday's considerable recovery by the published assurances that the Federal National Bank was not in need of assistance. It was believed, therefore, that the threatened institutions had weathered the storm. The news this morning caused hasty measures for supporting prices. The ef-fectiveness of these became very promptly manifest, but the recovery was viewed with some suspicion owing to the belief in the artificial nature of the demand. Those on the floor were surprised at the ease with which the decline was checked and it was easy to perceive that the offerings of stocks in the market were on a very light scale. The buying was thereupon renewed with vigor and the market carried upward comprehensively to the extent of a point or paper, 51/205% per cent. Sterling exchange

Prices retraced their course during the latter part of the day and the closing was rather easy and at net declines for the day, except where the early gains had been above the average. The late downward movement was not fully explained by any published development. The demand from shorts was satisfied to some extent on the advance, thus subtracting from the support of the market. Some fears were entertained that there might be a new factor 3.00 in the Pittsburg trouble, carried over to- checks. day by reason of the decision of the banks not to call maturing loans there and other sufficiently general to be the subject of wide-spread criticism.

Notwithstanding the late reaction in the tion of confidence in view of the factors to be contended with. To these must be added the threatening aspect of labor conditions with the Manhattan Elevated. The market did not take well the announcement that some of the anthracite collieries will close for about a week owing to the quick suc-cession of holidays within that period. The local money market was quite unaf-fected by the large shipments of money to Baltimore. Reports were current of fur-ther large grain exports and the freer movement of cotton was also viewed with

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.-There were further distressing announcements this morning before the opening, such as the Federal Bank, of Pittsburg, failure, and a car wheel manufacturing concern at Buffalo suspending. This induced selling early, but after the first half hour buying orders appeared all over the floor and the bears realized that the pools new buying stocks are in for a good turn and that not only are low and earnings continue liberal investments. The approaching extra session of Congress naturally was a bull card on Sugar, as it is conceded that the trust will be a financial gainer. This stock adwing the affinancial gainer. Corn Gains a Minor Fraction and Oats Close at a Small Advance-Mixed Changes in Provisions.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.-Talk of heavier re ceipts in the Northwest and lessening premiums for contract grades of both spring and winter wheat caused apprehension among bulls in that pit to-day, after show of strength early in the day, and the market turned weak, December closing 1/4@1/4c lower. Corn was 1/4c higher, oats up %c, and provisions 5c lower to There was a good demand from commission houses for both December and May wheat early in the session, and, with offerings quite light, the market took on was true, and, although prices were lower, a prompt clearance of the morning receipts was made, with Kinkan & Co. the leading buyers. firm outside markets and by reports from the Northwest of a big business there yesterday for shipment East, together with a fair export business reported at New York. Shorts covered freely during the early hours, and prices held strong until toward noon, when a reversal in sentiment occurred. Several prominent commission houses were liberal sellers during the later part of the day, and their action was followed by many pit traders, who were influenced by the prospects of increased receipts in the Northwest, with a lessening of the cash premiums. The market was weak late in the day, December selling down to 80c and closing at 80%c, a loss of 1/20/4c. Corn ruled fairly steady, but trading was light and mostly for local account. Prices were firm early, in sympathy with the strength in wheat, although cables and weather were bear factors. There was good buying by several prominent commission houses and scalpers the greater part of the day, and prices held fairly well, in spite of the weakness in wheat.

[A. R. Thompson & Co., Indianapolis.] CHICAGO, Oct. 21.-There was a better shipping demand for wheat, but the domestic demand was less urgent and cash markets here and elsewhere were not as strong. The market acted as it has of late lost its advance for lack Corn was firm, the fluctuations narrow, but the market most of the day some over Tuesday. The futures at their best were %c higher. There was continued selling by the provision interests. The buying was led by Updike, Comstock, Bryant The market closed with early advance lost. There was a more active speculative trade and it has looked as if some recent sellers were taking their lines back. The buying of futures has been led by Sterling-onefourth million or more. There has been buying by White, Helmholz, Levalley. The selling has been scattered and local rather than by commission houses. There was covering of lard and a strong market in that product. It was supposed to be based on a better cash demand. The Anglo bought the whole list of futures on lard-December, January and May. The rest of the list dragged.

A Scalping Market.

[Porterfield & Co., Indianapolis.] CHICAGO, Oct. 21.-The third day of scalping market in wheat was chronicled to-day and there was about the same movement, with the exception that the bulge did not carry it quite as high as heretofore. It was another case of local bulls buying early and as the outside failed to come in prices again sagged. Corn had a narrow market. Early there was strength, but when wheat got weak it followed. Sellers are still extremely bearish. Oats were narrow, but some strength through covering was the feature.
